Guest Speaker

This year, we are pleased to welcome guest speaker Lahaja Furaha to discuss the importance of workplace culture, and what organizations can do to shift and maintain positive culture change.

Lahaja Furaha

Practice Director, Human Capital Consulting Management Concepts

As Practice Director, Lahaja Furaha leads strategic direction, growth, and oversight of Human Capital Services at Management Concepts. With more than 20 years of experience implementing people strategies that support organizational effectiveness, Lahaja is responsible for shaping approaches and methodologies of organizational culture, coaching, mentoring, talent management, leadership, and change management.

Since joining Management Concepts, Lahaja has been partnering with public and private organizations to help them define operational norms, bolster engagement, and bridge gaps. She leads the development and application of multiple strategic frameworks used by Management Concepts to shape culture, strengthen talent capacity, and improve leadership alignment.

Primary clients include the U.S. Department of Transportation, U.S. Postal Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, Transportation Security Administration, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and Capital One.

Lahaja holds a BA from Howard University and an MS from the University of Michigan.
